NEWS RELEASE

Ferguson named a 2024 ENERGY STAR® Partner of the Year

2024-05-02

Ferguson has been named a 2024 ENERGY STAR® Partner of the Year, the highest level of recognition from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for corporate energy management programs. This award underscores Ferguson's commitment to energy performance, energy savings and a healthier planet.

Our key achievements that contributed to this honor include:

- Our ongoing efforts to increase awareness and sales of more sustainable products, particularly those certified by ENERGY STAR.
- We've held educational events to teach contractors and customers about the value of ENERGY STAR product solutions.
- We celebrated National ENERGY STAR Day by reaching out to our extensive network of homeowners, designers, builders, remodelers and architects.
- We've actively promoted sustainable products on our social media platforms, with dedicated product pages and filters to highlight these offerings.

Beyond offering energy-efficient products, we believe it's important to educate our customers about sustainable solutions for their projects. Our expert associates serve as trusted advisors, and customers rely on their knowledge of the latest products.

Learn more about our sustainable products and solutions on our Environmental Products page.