Silicon Valley Bank Establishes Financing Relationship With e-xpedient/CAVU, Inc.

West Palm Beach, FL -- April 23, 2001 -- Silicon Valley Bank, a wholly owned subsidiary of Silicon Valley Bancshares, announced its establishment of a financing relationship with Orlando, Flordia-based e-xpedident/CAVU Inc. CAVU's e-xpedient is the first corporation to deliver affordable 100 Mbps high-speed Internet access to business users of all levels in markets across the United States.

"We are excited to have established this financing relationship with such a strong banking group," said Brian Andrew, president and CEO of CAVU. "We've long known and respected Silicon Valley Bank's commitment to servicing truly innovative companies in the technology marketplace. More than just dollars, this is a relationship based on the comprehensive value and expertise that Silicon Valley Bank brings to our company."

"Over the past two years we have been seeking ways to team up with CAVU's e-xpedient, one of the hottest technology companies to come out of Central Florida," said Jeff White, senior relationship manager of Silicon Valley Bank's Florida office. "Brian Andrew is a true visionary, an experienced entrepreneur and it's hard not to get caught up in his enthusiasm and passion for his business."

"The speed, cost structure and scalability of CAVU's e-xpedient 100 Mbps Internet service made this company an exciting prospect for Silicon Valley Bank," said Tom Vertin, division manager of Silicon Valley Bank's Southeast Division. "The strong, national reputations of the company's current financial backers only further emphasizes the company's strength and long-term potential in this market."
