TYLER TECHNOLOGIES AGAIN NAMED ONE OF "AMERICA'S 200 BEST SMALL COMPANIES" BY FORBES

Dallas, October 31, 2008 -- Tyler Technologies, Inc. (NYSE: TYL) announced today that for the second consecutive year it has been named one of America's 200 Best Small Companies by Forbes Magazine in its annual list.

To qualify as a candidate for the "200 Best Small Companies" list, a company must have revenues of $5 million to $750 million and a share price of at least $5 as of September 29, 2008. Company rankings are based on return on equity, sales growth and profit growth over the past 12 months and also over five years. Forbes also compared a company's stock performance with that of its industry peers.

"We are honored to again be recognized by Forbes as one of the best small companies in America," said John S. Marr, Jr., president and chief executive officer of Tyler Technologies. "Our consistently strong performance has enabled us to continue to create significant value for each of our stakeholders – clients, shareholders and employees alike."

Based in Dallas, Tyler Technologies is a leading provider of end-to-end information management solutions and services for local governments. Tyler partners with clients to make local government more accessible to the public, more responsive to needs of citizens, and more efficient. Tyler's client base includes more than 7,000 local government offices throughout all 50 states, Canada, Puerto Rico and the United Kingdom. Tyler has been named one of "America's 200 Best Small Companies" by Forbes Magazine and one of "America's 100 Most Trustworthy Companies" by Audit Integrity, an independent research firm.
