

Tyler Technologies Signs Local Government Contract with Alabama City to Replace Multiple Vendor Applications

City of Hartselle Chooses Tyler's Incode Integrated Solution

Tyler Technologies, Inc. (NYSE: TYL) has signed an agreement with the city of Hartselle, Ala., for Tyler's Incode integrated local government solution. The contract includes related professional services, maintenance and support.

Hartselle decided to invest in a wide range of Incode applications, including financial management, personnel and content management. The city has also invested in Incode's Court Case Management solution and Tyler Public Safety, which includes computer aided dispatch (CAD), records management, mapping and mobile access. Tyler's Incode solution will replace at least five separate vendor applications.

"We expect Incode to make our city more productive and keep costs down by simplifying our operations, integrating our departments, and most important, helping citizens more efficiently conduct business with the city," said Hartselle Mayor Dwight Tankersley. "Tyler's Incode offers the most comprehensive single-source solution for our needs, including implementation and software maintenance."

"Tyler's Incode and Tyler Public Safety work together to provide a broadly integrated offering that Hartselle can trust," said Brett Cate, president of Tyler's Local Government Division. "With more than 50 individual integrated modules, Incode products provide the optimal platform for a true enterprise-wide solution. We look forward to partnering with the city of Hartselle."
