

Five Texas Counties Choose Tyler Technologies’ Land and Vital Records Solution

New customers join 28 Texas counties already using Tyler’s Eagle software solution

DALLAS – Dec. 20, 2011 – Tyler Technologies, Inc. (NYSE: TYL) has signed agreements with five counties in Texas for its Land & Vital Records solution. The agreements include licenses, related professional services, maintenance and support.

Brazoria, Clay, Jasper, Loving and Randall counties have all selected Tyler’s Eagle Recorder solution to streamline document recording processes. In addition, Clay, Loving, Jasper and Randall counties will implement Tyler’s Eagle Clerk solution to aid document indexing.

Tyler’s Eagle Recording software solution is currently used in 17 states, including Texas where 28 counties already use Tyler systems to help manage Land and Vital Records.

“During our more than 30 years in the recording business, Tyler has developed a deep domain expertise that gives customers great confidence in choosing us as the long-term partner for their Land and Vital Records needs,” said Brett Cate, president of Tyler’s Local Government Division. “The Eagle Product Suite continually evolves to maintain its position as the most reliable long-term recording solution available. Tyler’s commitment to investing in the Texas market has resulted in a number of new relationships, and we look forward to further expanding Eagle’s presence throughout the state.”
