

Mississippi's Capital City Chooses Integrated Court Management System from Tyler Technologies

Jackson selects Tyler's Incode® local government solution

DALLAS – Oct. 10, 2012 – Tyler Technologies, Inc. (NYSE: TYL) today announced that the city of Jackson, Miss., has selected Tyler's Incode® local government solution, including criminal court case management and document management applications, for enhanced access to important case and digital information and streamlined workflow. The contract also includes related professional services.

Jackson chose Tyler's Incode court case management solution because it offers a wide range of applications, specifically designed for municipal courts, that address case management, content management and financial management needs. Jackson is Mississippi's capital city, and with more than 173,500 residents, it's the state's most populous city.
