

Loudoun County Selects Tyler Technologies For Data Collection Services

Tyler's CLT Appraisal Services to provide county with field data and image collection services

DALLAS – Dec. 5, 2012 – Tyler Technologies, Inc. (NYSE: TYL) has signed a contract with Loudoun County, Va., for Tyler's CLT Appraisal Services as part of the county's effort to enhance the accuracy of its real estate data. Loudoun is one of Virginia's largest counties with more than 300,000 residents.

Under the agreement, Tyler will provide the county with field data collection services including onsite physical inspections and use of Tyler Verify for street-front imaging of residential structures. Loudoun County selected Tyler's iasWorld® Online solution in 2011 to improve its computer-assisted mass appraisal (CAMA) capabilities; the county accesses the software via Tyler's software as a service (SaaS) platform.
