

Johnston County, N.C., Live on Tyler Technologies' Eagle Solution

Tyler's Eagle Fraud Guard system provides citizens with enhanced fraud protection

PLANO, Texas – Jan. 14, 2014 – Tyler Technologies, Inc. (NYSE: TYL) today announced that Johnston County, N.C., has successfully implemented Tyler's Eagle recording and document management solution to enhance customer service.

Johnston County signed the contract one year ago for multiple Eagle applications, including Eagle Recorder and Eagle Web with Fraud Guard, which aids in preventing property fraud. Eagle Web provides the Web functionality to search records via the county's website, as well as make secure payments online. And with Fraud Guard, participants can sign up for free alerts by registering to be notified when a document is recorded with their name.

"Implementing Tyler Technologies' Eagle software solution has provided more value for the taxpayers' dollars and has empowered me to keep the high standards of our office," said Johnston County Register of Deeds Craig Olive. "Eagle has proven to be cost effective and user friendly, and provides direct benefit to residents with Fraud Guard and online access for document searches. I am excited that we selected a system that offers the latest in technology from a nationally recognized company that is a leader in the recording software industry."

Johnston County has a population of approximately 170,000 and the Register of Deeds Office has real estate records dating back to the mid-1700s. The county is also a Tyler Munis® enterprise resource planning (ERP) software client.
