

Michigan's Washtenaw County Signs Agreement with Tyler Technologies for Odyssey® Court Case Management Software

Washtenaw County Trial Court selects Odyssey software to replace antiquated system

PLANO, Texas – Feb. 4, 2014 – Tyler Technologies, Inc. (NYSE: TYL) has signed a contract with Washtenaw County, Mich., to implement Tyler's Odyssey® court case management solution. Odyssey replaces the trial court's current system that had not been updated or modified since 2005. The agreement includes related professional services, training and support.

Washtenaw County selected Odyssey for its integrated offering of case management, financial management and public accessibility applications. Additionally, Tyler's perpetual license philosophy safeguards the county's software investment because all future Odyssey updates are included as part of the annual maintenance agreement.

Washtenaw County is home to the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor and has a population of 345,000 covering an area of 720 square miles. Washtenaw County joins Michigan circuit courts in Wayne County and Kalamazoo County as Odyssey customers, serving more than 2.4 million residents. Three of the top 10 most populous counties in Michigan are Odyssey clients.
