Appraisal offices in Florida and Ohio awarded for excellence using iasWorld and Tyler Verify software and services

PLANO, Texas – May 9, 2014 – Tyler Technologies, Inc. (NYSE: TYL) today announced recipients of its 2014 Tyler Public Sector Excellence awards for iasWorld® appraisal and tax administration software and Tyler Verify property data verification services.

Leon County Property Appraiser in Florida was awarded for its innovative development of custom functions and sophisticated views in iasWorld that resulted in increased productivity for their staff and improved services to taxpayers. Leon County is home to the state's capital of Tallahassee and has a population of more than 283,000.

The Montgomery County Auditor's Office selected Tyler Verify for data verification services and street-level imaging during its reappraisal process, saving the county time and money on the data collection process while improving accuracy and performance measures. The county also created a new website to exclusively provide reappraisal information. Montgomery County is Ohio's fifth most populous county with approximately 535,000 residents; its county seat, Dayton, is home to Tyler's Appraisal & Tax Division.

Award submissions were evaluated by a panel of Tyler leadership. Entries were judged on business value, maturity, innovation and relevance to other public sector organizations. Additional criteria met by award winners include:

- Creating a unique process that utilizes a Tyler application
- Realizing significant savings after implementing a Tyler product
- Increasing staff productivity by implementing a Tyler product
- Empowering employees, citizens or vendors

“Leon County Property Appraiser and the Montgomery County Auditor's Office were selected for Tyler's Public Sector Excellence Awards because they used technology to improve customer service and create operational efficiencies,” said Andrew D. Teed, president of Tyler's Appraisal & Tax Division. “We're pleased to offer our yearly user conference as a way for our forward-thinking clients to share best practices with their public sector peers.
