

Tyler Technologies Expands Odyssey Case Management Solution within the Northern Territory of Australia

Odyssey to make access to justice easier within Local and Supreme Courts

PLANO, Texas (April 30, 2018) – Tyler Technologies Australia PTY LTD, a wholly owned subsidiary of Tyler Technologies, Inc. (NYSE: TYL), announced it has expanded its Odyssey® case management solution with the Northern Territory Civil and Administrative Tribunal (NTCAT) in Australia. Under the new agreement, Tyler will complete the next and final phase of implementation of its Odyssey solution to the Local and Supreme Courts with the NTCAT.

At the end of 2017, Tyler completed a successful go-live of its Odyssey Case Manager™ solution, after a short nine-month implementation. This next phase will extend Odyssey's presence into the Local and Supreme Courts in the Northern Territory and will include an implementation of Odyssey Case Manager, electronic filing, and Odyssey Judge Edition™. The Local and Supreme Courts will experience the benefits already recognized by the first phase of implementation within NTCAT, including the move from paper case files to digital ones, and automation of many processes within the court system.

“We’re honored to continue strengthening our partnership with the Northern Territory with the further deployment of the Odyssey solution,” said Kyle Snowdon, vice president of international sales for Tyler’s Courts & Justice Division. “The Northern Territory is setting the standard for integrated justice in Australia, and we look forward to working with them in this final phase to realize these benefits for all Territorians.”

In addition to its clients in Australia, Tyler serves clients in the U.S., Canada, the Caribbean, and other international locations. Today Odyssey serves more than 130 million citizens and residents around the globe.
