

NIC's Gov2Go Platform Named a Finalist for the ACT-IAC Igniting Innovation Awards

Gov2Go is the first personal assistant for government.

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Gov2Go, the nation's first personal assistant for government, has been selected as a finalist in the American Council for Technology and Industry Advisory Council (ACT-IAC) Igniting Innovation Awards competition which recognizes highly innovative IT products, services, systems and solutions that benefit government and citizens. The competition will take place during the ACT-IAC Igniting Innovation Conference and Awards on May 11, 2018, in Washington, DC.

Gov2Go is a nationwide platform solution that delivers essential federal, state, and local government services to citizens quickly and easily via the devices they use today. Gov2Go is designed to bring together all citizen interactions-at every level of government-onto one convenient platform in a way that is personalized, timely, and relevant.

"NIC is proud to deliver innovative solutions that make it easier for citizens to interact with their government," said Amy Sawyer, NIC General Manager. "And we are delighted that Gov2Go has been selected as finalist for this year's ACT-IAC Igniting Innovation Awards."

Gov2Go is more than some future vision of government-it is being used today by citizens across the country. Key services are available in all 50 states, and governments are continually adding unique services to the Gov2Go platform for the benefit of their constituents. In Arkansas, for example, more than 20 percent of the population use Gov2Go to receive notifications for a suite of services that includes vehicle registration renewals, property tax payments, and more.
