

Tyler Technologies' Munis Solution Named to Master Service Agreement for North Carolina K-12 Schools

Tyler's ERP solution now available to 115 local education agencies in state

PLANO, Texas (April 30, 2019) – Tyler Technologies Inc. (NYSE: TYL) announced today that through an agreement with the Department of Public Instruction's (DPI) Education Business Systems Advisory Committee and its School Business Systems Modernization Group, Tyler's Munis® enterprise resource planning (ERP) solution has been named to the North Carolina K-12 schools master services agreement as an approved vendor.

Under the agreement, 115 local education agencies (LEAs) in North Carolina will be able to easily procure Tyler's Munis ERP solution, which will be used to manage each district's financial, human capital management and payroll information to improve overall information transparency across the state while helping these agencies make highly visible and important data-driven decisions.

“We are thrilled that our Munis ERP solution has been selected as a preferred vendor for the Department of Public Instruction's master services agreement for North Carolina K-12 schools,” said Chris Hepburn, president of Tyler's ERP & Schools Division. “We are excited to partner with education agencies across the state to modernize processes, improve data transparency, and create efficiencies so these agencies can better serve their staff and students.”

The DPI project aims to deliver cloud-based systems with substantial improvements for the LEAs including:

- Tightly coupled HR and finance
- Near real-time position visibility and control
- Improved data management and advanced analytics for decision support
- Workflow and process enhancements
- Increased efficiency of operations
- Replacement of obsolete systems

Munis is used by more than 550 school districts across the country. Today, one in four school districts nationwide use a Tyler solution in their software ecosystem ensuring modern and efficient processing solutions for the enterprise, including student transportation and student information solutions.
