AllInternetNow Establishes $1 Million Credit Facility

CHICAGO, IL — May 25, 2006 — AllInternetNow (SmallBizManager, LLC), a leading comparative shopping website for telecommunications services, today announced that it has secured a $1 million credit facility with SVB Silicon Valley Bank, the commercial banking arm of SVB Financial Group (NASDAQ: SIVB). The new credit line will provide additional capital to expand the company's sales and marketing efforts in support of the broad range of telecommunications services it sells nationwide.

"The AllInternetNow business model represents a unique, consultative approach to serving the telecommunications needs of both large and small companies nationwide," said Jeff Stevenson, President, AllInternetNow. "We have been impressed with the level of support Silicon Valley Bank has shown our company, and are excited to have a relationship with a firm that truly understands the potential of our business."

"Silicon Valley Bank has been working with growth companies like AllInternetNow in the mid-west since we opened our Chicago office in 1998. AllInternetNow is positioned to support the strong growth in demand for complex voice and data services, as well as for broadband solutions for national, multi-location companies," said Ryan Dammeyer, relationship manager, SVB Silicon Valley Bank. "Our mission is to help our clients succeed and with this additional working capital we are pleased to be playing a role in AllInternetNow's growth and continued expansion."

Through its relationships with more than 20 leading telecommunications service providers, AllInternetNow streamlines the process for businesses seeking to expand or change their telecommunications services. Utilizing proprietary technology, AllInternetNow identifies available service options, provides quotes, and places customer orders. As a single point of contact, the company helps coordinate the entire provisioning process across different locations and providers. The company specializes in supporting the needs of national, enterprise businesses, in industries ranging from retail and medical to restaurant and lodging.
